

President's Message

Dear Colleagues,

Due to the exceptional set of circumstances during this year of my presidency, this is the fourth President's Message you will receive from me – unprecedented to say the least. Keeping that in mind I will be brief.

I am very excited to welcome all of you, and our guests, exhibitors, Sponsors, friends and family, to Chicago for our live, in-person, 71st Annual Scientific Session, February 24th (Members Business Meeting) through 26th, 2022. Program Chairs Drs. Duane Douglas and Damian Lee have assembled an exceptional slate of speakers this year, and I am truly grateful for the tremendous effort they put into the program.

As always there are some great opportunities to get together, or get back together. The Members Annual Business Meeting and Welcome Reception, multiple opportunities to reconnect with colleagues and exhibitors in the Exhibit Hall over Breakfasts, lunch, coffee and snacks, Annual Member and Guest Luncheon, Poster Presentation and Reception, and for New Members, a great opportunity to get to know Past Presidents and the Board of Directors at breakfast Saturday morning. Please take advantage of all our meeting has to offer – in addition to a great educational experience.

We are monitoring the COVID situation with increasing frequency, and checking in with Chicago.gov, other organizations holding live meetings, such as the Chicago Dental Society, and we will be talking with the Marriott to keep our Health and Safety Policy up to date and relevant.

As always, Dr. Doug Phillips (dbpaafp@gmail.com), the Academy Treasurer and Secretary for Guests is very willing to continue to work with Academy members on an individual basis to ensure that their membership fees and this year's 'special' fees do not cause any undue hardship.

Hoping you all enjoy the very best holidays with friends and family. See you in Chicago!

Sincerely,

Jim Dunne
AAFP President
